

(1) A stop along the way and the social networks' impact on the rehabilitation process for adolescent with an acquired brain injury

The project objective is, from a sociological perspective, to study the social network of young people with an acquired brain injury and which importance the network plays in the rehabilitation trajectory, and the handling of everyday life after specialized hospital treatment. Also, it will be explored which influence a 24-hour daycare rehabilitation has on the youngster's rehabilitation trajectory.